

Round Corners

Setting up artwork for round corner finishing

Rounded corners give your print a softer, more premium finish. We add round corners after printing, so there is no need to change your artwork. You simply select a radius when building your product.

Important: Set up your artwork as normal using standard size, bleed and crop marks. Do not round the corners in your design and do not add guides or marks. All you have to do is supply your artwork as a standard print-ready PDF.

When building your product, choose 3mm or 10mm round corners in the Corner finish section. Once selected, continue through the builder and place your order as normal.

Avoid placing key details into the corners of your designs. Keep text, logos and important elements comfortably inside the edges so nothing looks cramped once the corners are rounded.

It can be tempting to round the corners in your design, adjust the page size or remove crop marks to match the curve, but do not do this. Rounded corners are added after printing.
