

GLOBAL CITIZEN YEAR

The global gap year that's launching the next generation of leaders.

WHAT IS A GAP YEAR?

For some, packing up and shipping off to college immediately after high school graduation is the right answer. But not for all.

Many students elect to take time off before college—known as a gap year—to learn and grow outside the classroom. Some work. Some volunteer. Some travel. Some do all three. And while some call the gap year a non-traditional path to college, we call it a better way.

Students call Global Citizen Year transformative. Parents call it priceless. And top colleges call it preferable.

This is perspective that can't be taught in a classroom. Let us help you find your why.

GET TO KNOW GLOBAL CITIZEN YEAR

You may know exactly what you want to do with your life, or you may still be contemplating your college major. Either way, one thing is certain—Global Citizen Year Fellows start their first year of college with exponentially more purpose and passion than those without this unique gap year experience.

EXTENDED IMMERSION

Gain a true local perspective and learn a new language during your eight-month stay with a vetted and trained host family in your choice of our four program countries—Brazil, Ecuador, India, and Senegal.

MEANINGFUL APPRENTICESHIPS

Make your mark in the world working alongside community members in diverse apprenticeship sectors that include environmental conservation, health, education, agriculture, women and girls empowerment, small business, and social work.

EMBOLDENED INDEPENDENCE

Strike the perfect balance of work and adventure. Shape your experience by committing to your apprenticeship while getting the support you need to pursue your own cultural interests.

NEED-BLIND ADMISSIONS

Invest in yourself—we'll make it work for you. Tuition is $32,500, and we offer a need-blind admissions process, with 30 percent of past classes receiving full scholarships and 50 percent receiving partial scholarships.
